PlayStation players who also own a Sony Xperia phone enjoy some exclusive benefits. One of them is the PS Remote Play system. You'll be a wonder what it is and everything is summed up in one sentence: enough with the battles for television. This technology allows you to play with your console using your phone screen: That's why you can continue playing, even if your father, wife, or child take off your TV remote so you can watch what they want. The easiest way to have a portable PlayStation Invention has an obvious tool, that is, being able to play anywhere you want, but also a small critical point, that is, it is compatible only with Sony xperia-type phones and not all of them: you have to check the compatibility of you. It quite reduces the potential audience, but the app is designed for these users, and it's up to them that it focuses. The first requirement is to have the console and phone connected to the same wifi network. For the app to run smoothly, it's recommended to have a high-speed Internet connection, preferably a home network, no public networks. We will also warn you that some games may not be compatible, so I hope the title you have on your hands at the moment will work. You also need to keep your console software updated. This means that pick up the DualShock controller and continue playing. If that's okay, you have no excuse to close the game anymore, even if you have picky parents able to understand the importance of using family TV to destroy that boss you have in your hands. A PS5 or PS4 console is required to use remote playback. With remote playback, you can control your PlayStation console® remote control as long as you have a high-speed Internet connection.
